

"We are particularly keen to encourage applications from people with the interest and ambition to progress into consultant roles."

INFORMATION PACK FOR RESEARCHERS A NOTE FROM CORDIS BRIGHT'S MANAGING DIRECTOR

Thank you for interest in Cordis Bright.

We are a small but growing company looking to further enhance the skills and capacity of our in-house research team. If you're self-motivated, intelligent and have a demonstrable commitment to the public sector then we hope you'll consider applying.

We are particularly keen to encourage applications from people with the interest and ambition to progress into consultancy roles. As well as strong research and problem-solving skills, this requires commercial acumen, client management skills and an active interest in improving performance across the sectors in which we specialise. As a researcher, the wider Cordis Bright team will provide support, mentorship and training to help you progress to consultant, ideally within a 12-18 month window.

Aspirations within Cordis Bright are high – for individuals and for the company as a whole. This recruitment-round is designed to help us grow and also to help ensure that we continue to offer our clients high quality support and advice. This means we need researchers and consultants who value and respect the role of public services in individuals' lives, in local communities and in wider society.

I hope the attached information pack provides further useful information about the role and how to apply. If there is any further information that you would like, or to have an informal, confidential discussion then please contact Mark Norton, Office Manager on 020 7330 9170. He will be able to schedule a convenient time to talk to a member of our management team.

I look forward to receiving your CV and covering letter.

Yours faithfully

Colin Horswell
Managing Director